Believed Youngest Flier To Receive Award In Present War

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Aircraftman Charles Ronald Driver, 19, a wool broker clerk before joining the Royal Air Force, was awarded the distinguished flying medal. He is believed to be the youngest airman to have received this decoration in the present war.

He was in a machine over Heligoland when German fighters attacked. His friend and fellow gunner, Walter Lloyd, died in the war zone during the fight.

Driver, left in sole charge of the gun, went to the rescue of his friend. He was hit in the chest and the bottom of his turret shot away.

With his legs dangling in space, he clung to the machine while flames began to spread through the turret. He managed with one of his gloved hands to pull out the fire, enabling the pilot to make for home, but it was necessary to make a forced landing in the sea near the coast.

Four survivors escaped in a rubber dingy and were picked up 20 miles later.

Driver has just been on Christmas leave, having won his gallantry at Blackpool-on-Tyne. Details of his capture had been given but not until the year was over.

CANADA NAMES 2 CITIZENS TO HIGH POSITIONS

500,000 to 600,000, although Russian reinforcements in recent days of intense fighting may have raised that figure.

The Russians are numerically superior in air force, artillery and armor.

Finland sources are more visible all through the war than the comparative lack of Russian news.

They claim the morale of their warriors is far superior to the morale of the German troops.

At present, in 30 days of fighting the Russians have occupied almost the entire of Finland.

On the Karelian Isthmus, west of Lake Ladoga, they have advanced from 20 to 30 miles into Finland.

Alberta Reviews Golden Year For Province History

time on the Legislative buildings, where Premier William Abernethy and his cabinet colleagues carried on the business of government. The legislature met on Feb. 8, and prorogued on April 3.

N.B. REPARANCE

The year saw the final payment of more than $100,000 to the C.P.R. and C.N.R. for purchase of the Northern Alberta Railway.

The provincial public debt was reduced during the year by more than $5,000,000.

Highways: An intensive campaign was carried on to push forward the hard-surfacing of highways and much was accomplished in this respect. A great deal of work was done on the Jasper highway and, in expectation is that it will be completed next year. A 30-mile winter highway was completed from Gravelly north to Great Slave Lake.

Conservation measures were continued for preserving the Turner Valley oil supply and a Royal Commission is sitting to investigate the entire oil industry.

Wheat crop: In agriculture this province made great strides. A wheat crop of about 140,000,000 bushels has been estimated. The wheat from this province again exported championship in wheat and oats at the Chicago International show.

Alberta bulwark: The larger share of awards at outstanding Canadian exhibitions. Livestock, hogs, turkeys and the dairy products and dairy products continued to make progress and to expand the sugar beet industry in the province yielded greater results than ever before.

The provincial government interim program has expanded and treasury branches and agencies are flourishing in many sections of the province.

War effort: Since the outbreak of war several committees have been formed to work in conjunction with the Dominion government in prosecuting the war effort.

A Price Spreads Board, to prevent profiteering in foodstuffs is in operation, while several agricultural committees have been struck to assist in increasing production to supply Britain with additional foodstuffs.

M.L.A. DIES

One member of the legislature died during the year, namely, W. E. Hayes, Social Credit, Stony Plain, who succumbed to a heart attack. By-election to fill the Stony Plain seat has not been held and it appears as though it will be allowed to go until the next general election, expected in 1940.

Among the leading residents removed by death during the year were L. Col. C. B. Sims, V.D., and Honorary Lt.-Col. James Ramsey, both of whom died just before Christmas.

Military: As in 1914, outbreak of war saw Edmontonians rush to volunteer for active service and the splendid troops of the Edmonton Garrison are eloquent testimony to the fine physique and enthusiasm of the young army. The famous 48th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment of the World War, is being perpetuated in the present war by The 10th Battalion, Edmonton Regiment, under command of Lieut.-Col. W. G. Stillman.

AT SUPREME COURT

Highest Damages: When a jury in supreme court awarded Charles Arnold Hardin, his wife and one daughter, $20,000 special and general damages against Edward Ruzicka, Viking truck driver, for injuries received when their car was struck by a truck operated by Ruzicka, the record high for damages in a supreme court civil action in Edmonton cases was established this year. Mr. Hardin is a farmer in the Viking district. S. Bruce Smith, K.C., and W. O. Parier, acted for Mr. Hardin.

Tobacco Combine Alleged: Forty-three manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers were charged with operating an alleged "tobacco combine" and were committed for trial before the supreme court of Alberta. It is expected that the trial will be held in April, 1940.

No Hangings: For the second successive year no case has come before Northern Alberta courts which called for imposition of the death penalty. Although several murders were committed, the murderers also committed suicide. In one case where a double murder was committed the murderer was found incapable of pleading and has been committed to a lunatic asylum for life.

Freemint Ret: When Major F. Armour Ford, K.C., was called to the inner bar recently he appeared before the Alberta appeal court in uniform. His Honor Chief Justice Horace Harvey, welcoming him to the inner bar, commented on the fact he appeared in uniform, and said: "Your dress would indicate you have temporarily forgotten the practice of law to serve your country in another capacity."

CITY POLICE

City police officials reported back over 1939 Saturday and decided that it had been a relatively quiet and uneventful year which, in spite of an increase in traffic deaths, spoke well for the efficiency of the force.

Fatalities: Outstanding feature of the year's occurrence was the fact that there were 11 traffic deaths during 1939 as compared with 18 in 1938. This amazing figure which is an all-time high was attributed by observers to freckish condition of the streets this fall which made them veritable death traps. A survey of conditions for the whole year showed that there was a sub-

Trigler building. Many other smaller businesses opened their doors.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Wheat price: Co-operation with the Bracken committee to raise the guaranteed price on wheat to western farmers formed one of the highlights of the Chamber of Commerce's activity the past year.

The Chamber invited Premier John Bracken of Manitoba to address a public meeting at the Macdonald under his auspices at which the Manitoba leader reviewed the main problems facing western agriculture.

Ed. H. Ayling, then president of the Chamber of Commerce, was selected as one of the Alberta representatives by Premier Bracken and took an active part in his subsequent work.

EFFICIENCY

War economy: As the long shadow of war began to fall across the world, problems of a war economy, to enter the attention of the Chamber, representative of the business men and firms in Edmonton. Mr. Ayling told the annual meeting of the Chamber that the best contribution the association could make to the successful prosecution of the war was to see that business efficiency was maintained at the highest pitch.

Colin D. MacKenzie, who succeeded Mr. Ayling as president, has turned the activities of the council of the Chamber of Commerce to a survey of war problems and what the Alberta may best play in providing needed war materials.

NAZI RAIDERS HAVE LEANEST WEEK OF WAR

Britain Loses Only Four Small Vessels in Past Seven Days

By The Canadian Press

German raiders preying on merchant shipping had their leanest week of the war in the seven days ending Dec. 28.

Britain lost only five ships during the week, four of them fishing vessels of little more than 200 tons apiece. Total British tonnage lost was 3,387 tons.

Scandinavian ships were the only other victims of German submarines and mines. Their losses totalling 1,700 tons, this total Sweden lost more than half.

The Germans, who in the previous week had lost twice as much tonnage as the Allies, apparently reverted to their policy of keeping their merchant ships in reserve in the neutral ports, for the only German ship to come within range of British naval patrols was the 2,680-ton Gluckeburg which was successful in reaching Spanish territorial waters and ran aground near San Lucar de Barrameda.

The week's sinkings:

Officials of the Anglo-French purchasing board, set up jointly by France and Great Britain, to make war purchases in the United States, conferred with President Roosevelt yesterday. Sitting in at the White House meeting was Captain Harry E. Collins, chief of the treasury's procurement division.

A treasury official explained the procurement division and the allied board council in order to prevent the allies from bidding against the treasury in purchase of non-military supplies. Coincidence of large orders for the same material might shoot prices up temporarily, where as if the orders were spaced properly all purchasers could get better prices without upsetting the market.

Representing the allied board at the White House meeting yesterday were Arthur B. Purvis, president of the agency for the purchase of an official of the Franco-British committee of coordination in London. Secretary of the treasury Morgenthau also attended.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF CANADIAN RESOURCES HAS BUILT UP NATIONAL STRENGTH

CANADA GREETES THE NEW YEAR WITH CONFIDENCE

THERE is a vast difference between the Canada which now greets 1940 and the Canada which, twenty-five years ago, greeted 1915. In those days Canada was a nation with a great dominating industry—the production of wheat. By 1915 the grain-growing areas in the Prairie Provinces had been enormously extended and Great Britain and her allies afforded huge overseas markets for Canadian grain. The national income rose as export trade increased.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF GROWTH

During 1915 and the years immediately following, considerable impetus was given to the development of many other Canadian resources as overseas orders were filled for munitions and other war supplies. When the war terminated, Canada was determined to continue the development of her natural and manufacturing resources and planned to consolidate and to greatly augment export trade. For it was realized that only through export trade was it possible for Canada to become an industrially great nation.

For twenty-five years this expansion of industry by the promotion of export trade has continued until the value of trade with other countries has increased 113 per cent.

At the beginning of 1915, the annual revenue from export trade amounted to approximately $435,000,000, while at the beginning of 1940, the annual revenue has risen to approximately $969,000,000.

During this twenty-five year period, the deposits in Canada's Chartered Banks have grown from 1,003 millions of dollars to approximately 2,407 millions, or a 140 per cent. increase. Meanwhile, the population of Canada, in estimated figures, has grown from 7,830,000 to 11,300,000; an increase of only 43 per cent. or thereabouts.

Statistics show that the national income and per capita wealth have both been greatly augmented during the past quarter-century and Canada may rightly be proclaimed a rich and prosperous country with a still greater future now unfolding.

EXPORT TRADE THE KEY TO CANADIAN PROSPERITY

Canada's fortunate position today as a mature industrial nation is enhanced by the fact that her geographical situation enables her to become a great interior trading nation of the British system. From this time forward, Canada will certainly be developed as a strategic supply base for the British Empire and friendly foreign nations. Efforts of the past to foster trade goods will abroad (while developing resources at home) are likely to bear, in still greater abundance than at present, the pleasant fruits of Canadian prosperity, providing, of course, that Canada continues to promote friendly trade relations with other countries and preserves the name "Canada" as a symbol of honourable enterprise.

ASSISTANCE AND INFORMATION FOR CANADIAN EXPORTERS

It is the privilege of the Federal Department of Trade and Commerce to serve as trade pioneer and to assist the Canadian exporter in locating profitable markets. Following the plans developed many years ago, the Department through its Trade Commissioners contacts thousands of persons abroad who are likely to be interested in purchasing Canadian commodities.

At Exhibitions and Fairs of any importance in other countries, Canada places exhibits of primary products or manufactured goods. Advertising is also employed to spread knowledge of, and increase demand for, the products our Dominion has for sale. In recent years, these activities have led to the establishment of trade connections whereby many millions of dollars worth of new business has come to

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1939

The New Year

There are definite signs that the times are improving and will keep on improving in Canada. It is possible, therefore, for Canadians at this time to exchange the usual seasonal greeting not as a mere conformance to custom, nor as an expression of wishful thinking only, but as a hope carrying also a promise of fulfilment.

For a decade or more a new year dawning with so bright a prospect that growing prosperity will mark its course in this Dominion. Every factor entering into the calculation leads to the confident expectation that 1940 will be a good year for our people in their material conditions, and therefore, in their social conditions. Larger production, brisker business, more and more regular employment, are all indicated by the trend of world events in their bearing on conditions here.

So in a spirit of realistic optimism born of a candid examination of facts we may voice again the seasonal wish for a Happy New Year to All.

Peace in 1940?

Whatever 1940 may bring to the world, it does not promise to bring peace. The only reason for this is that more than the Pollyanna frame of mind is needed to believe that twelve months from now the guns will have ceased to roar everywhere, the war planes have been grounded, and the battered nations be turning their thoughts to the gigantic job of reconstruction, material and spiritual.

War is raging on three fronts. Present circumstances do not predict an early end to the strife in either area. Japan's army is evidently bogged down in the far interior of China, unable to advance and unwilling to retreat. Despite the new hosts Stalin is marshalling against them, the Finns are not about to receive reinforcements from abroad and say they can hold out till spring, in which case swamps will provide a worse barrier for the Russians than the blizzards of winter. That Germany will either collapse or revolt against its tyrants before the year is out does not appear probable.

Rather the outlook is that more nations may be drawn into one or other of the conflicts. The Balkan peninsula is a powder barrel, where an explosion may occur any time. The Chinese situation cannot continue indefinitely. Neutral re-assertment against Russia's attack on Finland is growing. Germany is still camped on the borders of the Netherlands and Belgium—waiting for spring?

In Defence of Happiness

The old year ends and a new one begins with Canada once more at war. Again Canadian soldiers have gone overseas, and others are preparing to join them, there to re-assert the right of the people of this Dominion and of the people of every other Dominion—Germany included—to live in the happiness of peace and democracy. Already Canadian soldiers have met the enemy while along our coasts Canadian sailors guard our ports and seaboard commerce.

For the men in our fighting forces the coming year cannot be "happy" in the sense of being free from danger. Nor for their relatives, friends and countryfolk can it be happy in the sense of being free from anxiety on their account. But to our warriors on land and sea and in the air there is the happiness that comes from doing one's duty and striking a blow in defence of right against wrong. And to us at home the solace of knowing that these our kinsmen are quitting themselves like men.

The war in which we are engaged is not of our making, nor the outcome of anything done or not done by the nations with whom we are allied. By no act of commission or omission do the Axis provoke the strife, or cause it to occur. For that the blame rests upon the band of unscrupulous men who have made themselves masters of Germany and turned the might of that great country into an engine of death, destruction and outrage upon other nations and peoples.

We and our Allies are fighting because that was and is the only way to beat down aggression, stop international outlawry, and restore ordered peace in the world. We are not laying down arms the moment the ends have been attained. The opponents of Germany are fighting a wholly different war. We have nothing to gain but only for ourselves and all other nations. For the loss and misery that may come of the conflict no guilt attaches to us. There is something closely akin to happiness in knowing that is true.

A Cheering Outlook

The Government of Ontario has reversed its attitude toward the St. Lawrence Waterway scheme. Premier Hepburn formerly opposed the project, and in effect stalled it, mainly on the ground that Ontario did not need the electric current which would be generated as a by-product of the undertaking. But he is now strongly in favor of the plan, and has made an agreement with the Dominion which clears the way for completing the bargain with the United States and getting construction under way. Seemingly the sooner it gets under way the better he will be pleased.

The reason for this open and complete about-face is in itself worth attention. The war, the Ontario Premier says, has changed the whole situation. Canada is now in prospect of a heavy demand for export industrial products, hence Ontario can use and will need the electric energy it did not require under the former conditions. It is suggested, however, may be needed before it will be available.

If this is sound thinking, people in other parts of Canada are also entitled to confidently expect a marked increase in the demand for their products, both at home and abroad. A great industrial development in Ontario will create a broader market there for farm products, minerals, timber and other materials in which the western and eastern provinces must share according to their location and resources. And a demand abroad for Canadian industrial goods has always been accompanied by a corresponding demand for supplies of other kinds.

From Ottawa comes support for this encouraging outlook in the shape of a prediction that during the coming year will see a heavier export trade to Great Britain than any year past. In particular it is foreseen that Britain will need wheat, cheese, bacon, timber and metals in vast quantities. This list alone includes items important to producers in every part of the Dominion.

Nor is it to be forgotten that the stoppage of German trade with South America has left an unoccupied market there worth $250,000,000 per year, which Canadians are by reason of their location and resources well situated to supply in very considerable measure.

The people of Canada are thus justified in looking ahead with confidence that we are to see a busier and better than we have ever known.

Fifty Years Ago

From the Files of the Edmonton Bulletin

Ottawa: Word has been received from a company of British financiers that this country may expect a large investment boom here in the next three years. Canada is being looked upon as a fruitful source of investment. It also is being said that this scheme will be linked to a rather comprehensive immigration plan to bring more settlers of British stock to the Dominion.

Forty Years Ago

London: Winston Churchill's dispatches on the South African war are exciting tremendous enthusiasm in Great Britain. In addition to writing vivid descriptions of the battles that take place, he also has taken a romantic part in many of the engagements. The brilliant son of a brilliant father seems to have a large career ahead of him.

Thirty Years Ago

Winnipeg: The city council is trying to arrange for an exhibition of all Canadian industrial products in this city next summer. It is felt that the exhibition, if held in the heart of the country, makes it the ideal convention city of Canada. Publicity to this end is being planned.

Twenty Years Ago

Washington: Elihu Root, great lawyer, became the attitude of the American Senate to the Versailles Treaty and League of Nations. He said the Senate debates had not been marked by any keen insight into the problems of world organization. He said any defects in the peace settlement could have been worked out if the United States showed a will to co-operate. But as long as the United States stood outside the framework of collective action, the League was doomed and robbed of its great power.

Ten Years Ago

Detroit: Four members of the crew of three run-running boats are believed to have drowned last night in the river, into which they plunged to escape capture.

Fairbanks, Alaska: With three Fairchild planes, Capt. Reid and a party of Canadian air-men are here to start a search along the Arctic coast for Karl Lenn and Karl Lenn.

London: In resuming diplomatic and trade relations with Britain, Soviet Russia has promised to abstain from propaganda both in Britain and the Dominion.

London: Full circle of diplomatic relations nearer completion when the Soviet ambassador presented his official credentials to the Prince of Wales.

The Passing Show

By MAX FREEDMAN

Few will the mourners be at the old year's passing. He has long overstepped the welcome. The great and turbulent and pain he brought the world far exceed the scattered joys it lay within his bounty to bestow. Citizens of Poland, Finland and Czechoslovakia certainly will not cherish the memory of the last year. Twelve months. For them the year is DYING has meant the scourge of oppression or the menace of invasion. Over the entire world sprawls the heavy shadow of war. We should be glad to say good-by to 1939. Perhaps his successor will wear a more smiling face and carry a more merry banner.

For Charles Lamb, New Year's Eve induced thoughts of sober sadness as he mused upon the cruel brevity of life. Except for a few austere or thin-blinded spirits, Lamb is had medicine on this night. The common wisdom of the race has decided to welcome the new guest with joy rather than to speed the departing one with lamentation. That is why, as the year dies, the merry peal of bells rings out not in mourning for the days that are gone but instead in joyous and earnest greeting to the days still to come.

"You are not going to have the laugh on me, dear Father Time," smiled Christopher Morley, "by luring me into resolutions. I know my weakness. I know that I shall probably continue to smoke cigarettes and read the magazines on the stairs instead of buying them that I shall put off having my hair cut and tobacco ender on the shelves of my bookcase. I shall have to get up and dressed; be nervous when the gas burner pops when turned off. I shall continue to be pleasant to insurance agents, from about on the point of the day before New Year's over the date and so incur a fee. My only hope, you see, is resolutely to determine to persevere in these failings. Then, by sheer perversity, I may grow out of them."

"Well, my dear Time, we approach the Zero Hour. I hope you will have a Happy New Year, and conduct yourself with becoming restraint. So live my dear fellow, and to God be the good time was enjoyed by all." As the hands of the clock go over the top and into the New Man's Land of the New Year, good luck to you!"

Bob Edwards, of Calgary Eye-Opener fame, has received new attention since Roy Stuba of Winnipeg, editor of the eye-opener, published his recent book of sketches on lawyers and laymen of Western Canada. His portrait of Edwards sparkles with color, borrowed, with acknowledgment, from the rich palette of Mr. Cameron's mind.

SOME OLD of Mr. Cameron's mind. FAMILIAR faces. Scholarly and lovable, Mr. Cameron, University of Alberta, has written a knowledge of the Calgary newspaperman that is unrivaled in Canada. It would be a decided boon to Canadian biography if Mr. Cameron could find the leisure to write on paper the picture to Roy Edwards he carries so graciously in his simply powered mind.

Anyway, here are some of Edwards' quips as related by Mr. Cameron, or recorded by Mr. Stuba. They seem to have a peculiarly apt flavor at this period of the year.

"Don't meet trouble half-way. It's quite capable of making the other half-way."

"The difference between a friend and an acquaintance is that a friend helps where an acquaintance merely advises."

"Too many people put away money in the hope of other people's tears."

"Don't place too much confidence in a man who boasts of being as honest as the day is long. Wait until you meet him at night."

"As a matter of fact your neighbors think just as disagreeable thoughts about you as you think about them."

"The bankruptcy is when you put your money in your hip pocket and let your creditors take your coat."

The last remark recalls the famous definition of a prejudice as a wandering opinion without visible means of support. Bob Edwards had many prejudices. He was prejudiced in favor of common sense, prejudice in favor of honesty, prejudice in favor of blunt humor and a savage contempt for all sham, no matter how venerable or celebrated. Alberta could use some of those prejudices right now.

Bob Edwards' boom pal was "Paddy" Nolan, editor of the "Globe and Mail." Here's a story Mr. Stuba tells of him. He was defending a man charged with stealing a steer from the ranch of W. R. Hull, a leading Calgary rancher, whose cattle ranch was near Glenora.

His cross-examination took place: "I A STORY believe you are one of the largest OF NOLAN ranchers in Alberta, Mr. Hull?"

"Yes, Mr. Nolan, I am."

"And where are your headquarters, Mr. Hull?" asked Nolan.

"The Calgary, Mr. Nolan," replied Hull.

"And where are your headquarters, Mr. Hull?"

"Thinking only of his ranch, Mr. Nolan replied, 'In Glenora.'"

"Well," said Nolan, "if your headquarters are in Calgary and your headquarters are in Glenora, you are certainly the very largest rancher in Alberta."

THE QUAKER'S PROTEST

From a veteran missionary in China, a great official Quaker, he wrote the other day, urging that America stop supplying Japan with oil and iron and money, to be used in the devastation of China. His quiet spirit was aroused by the savage and unprovoked attack and he felt clearly that Christian America should do something about it.

Another letter, from a famous missionary pioneer in Shanghai, told of his own experiences called to Christians in the homeland to make vocal and practical their moral sentiments, and professed his faith in the pagan destructiveness would ultimately be in vain.

China will survive, and one day triumph; but what will be her judgment of a supine and indifferent Christianity?

Help us to hate that which is evil. O righteous Lord. In a cruel, bloody, lustful day, may all

A Resplendent Future

The people of Canada must realize by now that our participation in the World War is a process of bringing about changes in the country, the consequences of which are still incalculable. Among the controls over our economic life and over the prerogative of the individual set-up by the Government, some will certainly remain upon our statute book when the war is over, just as some of those established during the war of 1914-1918 have passed into our system of law. As a result of the investment of millions, if not billions, of European and American dollars in Canada, we may expect a vast industrial development which will automatically involve intensive immigration. Dr. Stephen Leacock, the well-known economist, predicts that this war will produce in Canada the same situation as the Napoleonic wars did in the United States; that is to say, we shall find Sir Wilfrid Laurier's prophecy fulfilled that "the Twentieth Century is Canada's." We shall see our country transformed within a few years into one of the mightiest and most populous economic and industrial powers on earth. And at the same time, we shall see the rhythm of our living re-adjusted to new responsibilities, the scope of which we can scarcely glimpse today.—La Jour (Montreal).

"By Kind Permission"

At the Nuremberg trial in 1936 Hitler said: "If I had the Urals mountains with their local stores of raw materials, Siberia with its vast areas of fur-bearing animals, the wheatfields, Germany, under National Socialism, would be swimming in plenty." That was what he wanted in peacetime, when Germany was to produce about 35 per cent of the requirements for heavy industry and armaments. In wartime her requirements are naturally much larger, and the 75 per cent of her peacetime requirements for raw materials, which were enormously reduced by the British blockade. Apart from any other sources of supply, the Scandinavian and Baltic countries were essential to Germany as a supplier of raw materials, and it was recognized long before the war that if those States stopped exporting to Germany, Germany would probably be compelled to resume dealing with the Baltic States. That explains the ruthless campaign against Scandinavian shipping. But the Baltic States are now dominated by Russia, and only send goods to Germany by kind permission of Stalin.—Johannesburg Times.

Fields For College Men

If development in this city is to be criterion, two new professions are opening to college men—police work and fire-fighting. Both services have advanced far beyond the point at which mere physical fitness, fortified perhaps with a little political influence, is enough to recommend a candidate. Training, both mental and physical, is now emphasized, and candidates with college training seem, as the city on the best might put it, "to have what it takes."

The Civil Service Commission decided some time ago to accept applications for college training, a plan recently sustained by the Court of Appeals. Final ratings in the last examinations for appointments to the Police Department show that more than two-thirds of the successful contestants have had college training. The three highest marks were made by graduates of law degrees qualified.

Mayor La Guardia is an advocate of the police and fire departments as career fields for college men. Speaking this week at the opening of the College of Public Training at the College of the City of New York, he suggested that the new course constituted "a combined West Point and Annapolis for the police and fire departments." Some day, he might suggest some specialized academies for these two branches of city service. He emphasized the security of the career, the opportunity for advancement, and the opportunity for human usefulness as equal to that in any other profession. There is no reason why college graduates should not make better policemen and firemen, just as they have made better lawyers, doctors and clergymen.—The New York Times.

The two last days of 1939 were perilous ones for the besieged garrison in Quebec. The British defenders had been standing to their arms night and day from Christmas evening the attack which Montgomery had promised. But there were only a few skirmishes and attacks by arrows and cannon until the night of the 30th, when was effected that attack was war.

Vigilance was redoubled. About 4 a.m. on the morning of December 31, the enemy attacked, gaining immediate success by capturing an important position. The main attack was repulsed, but the point, but their leader had been killed, and since there was no one to give commands there was considerable disorder and confusion.

However, with the coming of daylight, order was restored (the enemy having been held off by individuals on their own initiative). Then a party of merchant soldiers arrived and started the fight. Fighting continued in this section for several hours and might have resulted disastrously for the defenders but for the intervention by a Captain Low and a bluff, which worked. Having placed his men in the rear of the post he advanced alone and, entering the post, told the invaders: "You are my prisoners!" They laughed at him, replying: "Why, nonsense! You are ours!" Low kept the party up for a few minutes until his men arrived and then the whole company of the invaders was captured, 200 prisoners being taken.

McKenney On Bridge

By W. E. MCKENNEY, American Card Authority

This is the fourth of a series of 12 hands played by the new national champions in tournament at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. R. C. Young of Philadelphia, who won the world's championship bridge player, added more titles to her long string at the national championships this year, while Mrs. Young made three hearts doubled on a hand which brought her to most of the North-South pair.

East trumped and decided on a small trump exit to avoid what seemed like worse evils. Mrs. Young won with the eight of hearts, cashed the ace of spades, then played a low club. East won with the king and led with a club, won in dummy with the queen.

South won the trick for North to ruff and the ace of clubs cashed. East ruffed the ace of club and then led with the king of hearts. Mrs. Young played four, the defense was limited to four tricks. Mrs. Young made three hearts doubled on a hand which brought her to most of the North-South pair.

Second-four events. Her greatest achievement was accomplished when she and her teammates won the national open team-off-four.

Sunshine Shafts

An old local preacher at the village chapel was giving out the notices for the week. As no one came forward to accept the following Sunday he announced: "The minister for next week, my friends, will be pinned on the door."

"What were those unusual greens we had tonight, Cook?"

"You remember, ma'am, you said those geraniums in the garden looked so lovely you could eat 'em."

"Yes."

"You've 'em here?"

Two drunks entered an elevator. The operator waited. A moment later a woman got out.

The operator politely removed his hat. The second was too far pulled to remember either.

The operator closed the doors. "Floors, please," he said.

"Seven," said the woman.

"Seven," said the first drunk.

"Seven," repeated the second.

The first drunk nudged his companion.

"Your hat," he ordered.

"Oh, yes," he hiccoughed. "Six and three-quarter."

They were discussing a silver butter dish, which they were to send to newly-married friends.

Wife: "What shall we put on the card?"

Husband (reading the paper): "Oh, just the usual dope. I'll pose."

Wife (after a few moments): "How about this: 'For butter — or worse?'"

Walker: Just think of it. Every time he hands out the card, thirty minutes someone is killed in an automobile accident. Something should be done.

Driver: Why not stop the clock?

"Have you seen my dog this morning?" Mr. Smith asked.

"Seen him? I should think I have. He came in here, stole a leg of pork, bit me in the foot, then he stepped a customer into a crate of eggs."

"Did he really? Well, I wonder if you would mind putting this note in your window?"

Customer: "Well, and how do you find yourself today?"

Widower: "It's well—long done up, now. Every rib's gone, I haven't a wonder. It's my right hand's off with a swollen foot—in fact, my leg. I'm run off my legs."

Toboggan Slides Popular: Provide Inexpensive Sport

Thrilling Winter Pastime
May Be Started In Any District

SPRINGING like a jumping young man, you reach the bottom of the snowy slide. Twenty yards down, you are greeted by the thrill of slipping along at the nation's greatest winter sport.

Edmonton is admirably situated for the building of toboggan slides and double slides. From 1,000 to 2,000 feet in length are the slides in the district. Tobogganing could easily be made one of the city's prominent winter pastimes. Community groups, neighborhood groups, high school groups, sports organizations throughout the city could all build their own slides with little trouble.

Some runs are a mile in length where topography permits. Single and double slides, from 1,000 to 2,000 feet in length are the rule. But these groups, South, City, Golden, C.P.T. and other youth organizations can build their own small slides at high spots. They can build beautiful slides and thrill slides at little more cost than the work spent on the larger slides, the slides themselves in building.

KE CHUTES
Although you can toboggan in soft snow, on hillside, on chutes or the run may be more exciting.

The sport is safer on good slides and with proper slides built on a hillside, it is the best to lay the course in a straight line. Curves are dangerous at high spots.

The easiest and quickest way to form the run is to use a special run, made of two-inch boards, 12 inches wide, which make a run 24 inches wide, the boards being nailed and 10 feet in length, secured together with crosspieces.

If you use a special run, you can easily erect a starting platform, using rough lumber to provide the base. The platform should be built on a hillside, and the slides should be built on a hillside.

STARTING PLATFORM
A starting platform may be erected on top of a garage, laundry house or other run, using rough lumber to provide the base. The platform should be built on a hillside, and the slides should be built on a hillside.

At the last meeting Christmas cards were sent and a special card was sent to some of the representatives and friends of the youth organizations. The cards were sent by Rev. J. Gordon Brown.

Shown above is the slide and picturesque three-lane toboggan slide in Quebec City, Quebec. This is recognized as one of the finest slides in the world. But all slides need to be as elaborate as the one shown above. They may be built from the rear of a garage, or a hillside, or a hillside.

What fun you'll have on them.

When fun with snow and spritely slides is a fun, it is a fun. When fun with snow and spritely slides is a fun, it is a fun. When fun with snow and spritely slides is a fun, it is a fun.

Slow up slide
The winter slides with snow and pack it with a layer of at least two inches deep is formed on the bottom and sides.

In freezing weather, sprinkle the snow with water until it is saturated, and allow it to freeze solidly. Do the same to the outside of the slide.

Santa Claus Begins Preparing For Yuletide Season Next Year

MONTREAL, Dec. 30.—For "Santa Claus" it's just about time to get ready for the Yuletide season. Santa Claus is known to his old friends as the one who has been handing out more than 2,000 packages to children of destitute families in Montreal.

Outstanding News Stories of 1939 Told in Pictures

Their Majesties Arrive at Quebec—The first reigning British sovereigns to set foot upon Canadian soil, King George and Queen Elizabeth are shown accompanied by Prime Minister Mackenzie King as they debarked from the liner Empress of Australia at Wolfe's Cove, Quebec City, on May 17.

Royal Couple Visit President Roosevelt—History was made this summer when the King and Queen visited the United States. They are pictured here seated on the porch of President Roosevelt's Hyde Park home. Mrs. Sara Roosevelt, mother of the U.S. President, is pictured in centre.

Pope Pius XII is pictured as he blessed the cardinals and other high prelates of the Roman Catholic church, who witnessed his elevation to the papacy on March 12 to succeed Pope Pius XI, who died on Feb. 10.

The Russo-German pact, signed by Premier Molotov, seated, and German Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop, left, in the presence of Soviet Dictator Josef Stalin, right, united two hereditary foes and drastically changed the aspect of European politics. The signing of the pact surprised the world and rudely shook the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo anti-comintern pact.

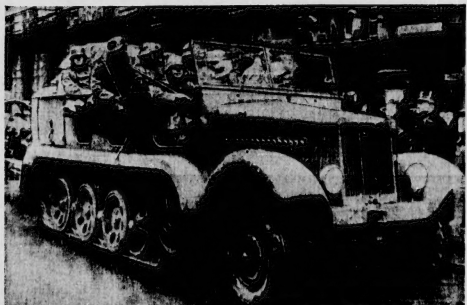

The European war was heralded by an aerial bombing attack on Poland by the German air force on September 1. In three weeks Poland's resistance was shattered and her territory split between Germany and Russia. Dead Polish civilians, like the ones pictured here, were typical of the havoc wreaked by the Nazi Blitzkrieg.

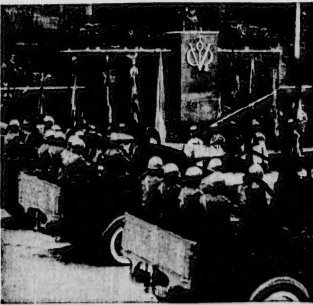

The U. S. arms embargo was lifted as President Roosevelt signed a bill permitting the U. S. to sell arms to all belligerents, provided the warring nations transported goods bought from the U. S. in their own vessels and paid for the goods in cash.

British tommies pour into France to lend assistance to their French Allies after Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons that "a state of war exists between this country and Germany". A few hours previous to the prime minister's announcement, the government of France declared war on Germany following the Nazi invasions of Poland. British Tommies are seen here marching through a French village on their way to the front.

The Munich pact was broken when Chancellor Hitler ordered his legions into Bohemia and Moravia to complete the occupation of Czechoslovakia. By this action the Munich pact, signed by Germany, England, France and Italy, was made null and void. German soldiers are seen here as they entered Prague, ancient capital of the country.

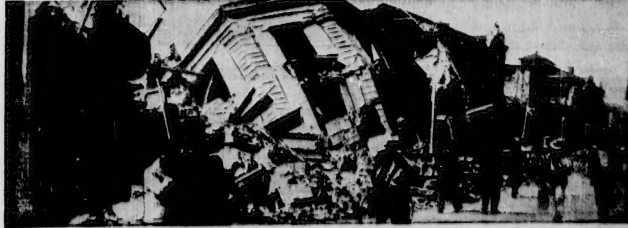

End of the war in Spain.—The end of thirty-two months of internecine strife in Spain was marked by the bloodless fall of Madrid, to the Nationalist troops of General Franco. Though the end was bloodless, thousands of men, women and children had perished before peace came.

A diplomatic victory was won by Great Britain when Britain and Turkey signed a mutual assistance pact, despite pressure put upon Turkey by Germany to throw her lot in with Nazis. The Anglo-Turkish pact gives England a measure of control of the important Dardanelles Straits.

Finnish Troops Stiffly Resist Russian Invasion—Following the partition of Poland by Germany and Russia, Soviet government embarked on an expansion program which gave control of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia to Moscow under threats of military action. Finland refused to capitulate to Moscow's steamroller diplomacy and the Red government launched its armed might against the peaceful Finns, claiming tiny Finland threatened security of Russia.

Earthquake Claims 30,000 Lives—Terror and destruction struck at Southern Chile last January as earthquakes laid waste a large area of the South American republic, wiping out cities and killing thousands. Pestilence and famine followed hard on the heels of the devastating earthquake, adding to misery of the populace. A view of some of the ruins at Concepcion is shown above. Concepcion was one of the cities hardest hit by the quake.

Bulletin Cameraman Shows 1939 Highlights in Pictures

The biggest news of the year was the declaration of war on Germany by Britain and France. Here you see the reactions of citizens as they read the events leading up to the declaration.

They're training the national swagger and a few other tricks of the sea, these young sailors in the Warriors' Unit of the Edmonton sea cadets. They take physical and seamanship instruction.

Opening of the new million-dollar store by the Y. Kalon Company, Western Ltd. this year was another big news event in the city. Here is a picture of the modern store shortly before it swung its doors open to the public.

A panoramic shot of the Exhibition parade last summer. The spectacle was witnessed by 40,000 onlookers as the big summer fair got underway.

Canada's high command caught by the cameraman at the Prince of Wales Armoury. Maj. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, right, general officer commanding the 1st Canadian Division, is seen inspecting troops here with Brig. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding, M.D. No. 15.

The Albatross disaster was Germany's opening shot in sea warfare. Mrs. F. Bannard of Edmonton, a survivor of the torpedoed passenger liner, is seen kissing a relative as she arrived in the city.

Big Bob Fritz, coach of the Edmonton Eskimos, is seen leaving the field as his gridders handed Winnipeg Blue Bombers a crushing 30-11 pasting. The fall of 1939 brought the introduction of night rugby here.

Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, made history by opening the treasury branch system this year.

Appointment of Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, M.P. for West Edmonton, as minister without portfolio was made earlier this year. Mr. MacKinnon is at present acting minister of transport in the Mackenzie King government. During the year Mr. MacKinnon gave Edmonton every possible assistance whenever representation to the Dominion government were necessary. At all times he regarded the welfare of Alberta's capital as one of his main considerations and on several occasions won the warm praise of civic officials for the work he did.

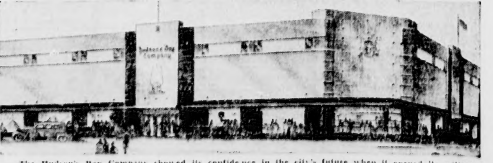

Ranking in most importance with the declaration of war was the visit of Their Majesties to Edmonton on June 2. The Royal couple are seen leaving the Legislative Buildings as thousands cheered.

Operation of the new trolley coaches marks a milestone in the progress of Edmonton's transportation system. These large motorless buses are increasing in popularity daily and the city is planning on adding to the fleet.

Would-Be War Birds rush the Edmonton recruiting station to offer their services for King and Country. Approximately 300 young men were lined up outside the station when this picture was taken.

The Hudson's Bay Company showed its confidence in the city's future when it opened its million-dollar store here this year. The above picture shows the big departmental store's modern design.

'A Convoy Has Made Port Safely'

By D. CROSBY FISHER in the London Daily Mail

IT WAS a strange armada which gathered at that southern port for convoy along Britain's east coast. Twenty-four vessels of every shape and size—sturdy tankers, sleek liners, salt-caked colliers, a grimy tug.

The 2,000-ton vessel to which I, "Bounded as though they got something,"

"CONTACT" We hear the explanation of other depth charges about 30 minutes after the first batch.

As before we remain ignorant of both the cause and effect of the incident. Wireless communication between ships in convoy is forbidden for fear of giving away the position to enemy raiders.

We see them signalling, and one flag, which means it is investigating contact by submarine.

But the contact must be a false one, for no charges are dropped.

Another grim reminder of our danger comes in the form of a message from a ship of the 11,000-ton Danish ship "Convoy,"

Next day, however, as though for my enlightenment, the escort vessel goes through all the manoeuvres preliminary to dropping depth charges.

Here's Canada's New Battle Flag

Colors in the flag are shown as follows: RED—crosses in Union Jack and maple leaves in vertical ruling; BLUE—field of Union Jack and background of circle in horizontal ruling; YELLOW—flours-de-lis, stipple.

THIS is the battle flag of the first Canadian division. It will fly over the headquarters of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton. It is the work of Col. A. F. Duguid, chief of the historical section of the national defence department.

Lord Nuffield Has Big Job of Keeping Planes Air-worthy During War

London, Dec. 30.—The man behind the repair shops and equipment depots for planes of the Royal Air Force is Viscount Nuffield, an industrialist, a member of the House of Lords, and a member of the House of Commons.

He is 62 years old, slim, grey-haired and has made as much money as he has given away.

Lord Nuffield was born in London in 1877. He was educated at Eton and at Balliol College, Oxford.

Before he was 37 he had his own business, building and repairing motor cars.

His contributions to property and his benevolence towards his countrymen have won him a reputation as one of the great benefactors of his country.

War Puts the Squeeze on Fat Rumania

EUROPE'S fat little boy is under all sorts of pressure these days. What he does about it has a direct bearing on the fate of the world.

The fat little boy is Rumania, which finally yielded to some German pressure this week—because Germany is a strong power in the world.

Just the other week a Russian newspaper suggested that Rumania would do well to sign a "mutual assistance" pact like the one that put the three little Baltic states under Soviet domination.

But Rumania refused to sign a "mutual assistance" pact like the one that put the three little Baltic states under Soviet domination.

THE year has been a profound sign that the year 1939 is over. It is almost as if the year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us.

Most of the year's events have been the result of war of nerves that the year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us.

All of this excitement and fear was reflected in sports in the section of the week. It is almost as if the year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us.

Now that Canada's part in the war has been mapped out by the government and a definite program launched, the pressure and the anxiety have disappeared. It is almost as if the year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us. The year has been a long, long day, and the night is now upon us.

Turner Valley Oilers Here New Year's Day

WITH five straight victories chalked up, Coach Edna O'Keefe's Edmonton Oilers will go to work on the Turner Valley Oilers in the New Year's Day hockey feature here at the Arena — and Captain O'Keefe will get busy in an effort to regain sole possession of first place in the Alberta Senior Hockey League scoring statistics.

Three league games will be played on Monday — one at Calgary and Calmar at Innisfail, in addition to the battle here. The Turner Valley Oilers are scheduled to arrive in Edmonton at 10 p.m. sharp.

Edmonton has played the Turner Valley Oilers twice this season — a 3-2 win at Turner Valley on Nov. 10, and a 4-1 win at the Arena on Dec. 10. The Oilers are currently leading the league with 10 points.

Sir Humphry Davy

The man who discovered Electric Light born at Penzance, England, 1778

IT is interesting to note that when it was proposed to illuminate the streets of London with gas this famous and eminent scientist could not conceive the practicability of gas illumination. Sir Humphry said: "To get all the gas you want you will need the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral for a gas holder and that will explode."

His experiments in electricity were more successful than his prediction in the field of gas illumination. He had a large electric battery to which he joined two wires—when their ends touched nothing happened, but when drawn slightly apart a light appeared. Davy fastened a piece of charcoal between the wires and obtained a splendid light. This experiment took place about 1801.

Other men, Sir Joseph Wilson Swan and Thomas Alva Edison, discovered a way to make a lamp suitable for the home, and so the most eminent men of science have given to us a priceless heritage... the modern Aladdin's Lamp—"Electricity."

Make ELECTRICITY your servant to command. It is efficient... it will preserve your sight... it will lighten your labor... it will bring comfort to your home... it is cheap.

Amateur Cup Finalists To Split Money Melon

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—A plan which will increase by about $10,000 the amount to be divided by clubs participating in the Allan and Memorial cup playoffs, and at the same time provide a goodly sum for some national patriotic or charitable organization, was adopted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association yesterday in the final session of their two-day, semi-annual meeting.

COMMUNITY HOCKEY CLUBS START JAN. 4

The $200,000 capital fund of the national organization is to be used for the purchase of 13,500 tickets, the cost of which will be divided among the clubs. The tickets will be sold at a price of 10c each, and the proceeds will be used to purchase the tickets. STEADY TONE ON WHEAT MARKET

WINNIPEG, Dec. 30.—Return of business to normal and volume of selling pressure gave wheat futures prices a steady tone during the final 1000 session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Typical century year-end trading prevailed in the grain market. Wheat futures were steady, with a slight upward bias. December wheat was at 88 1/2, and January at 87 1/2.

DEVELOPMENT IS RECORDED FOR ALBERTA

Hon. E. C. Manning Issues Report on Progress During 1939

Despite conditions which have been unfavorable to the development of the province, the Hon. E. C. Manning, Minister of Trade and Commerce, today issued a report on the progress of development in Alberta during 1939. The report, which is the first of its kind, is a comprehensive survey of the province's resources and the progress of development in various fields.

The report is divided into several sections, each dealing with a different aspect of development. These include agriculture, industry, commerce, and public works. In each section, the Minister provides a detailed account of the progress made during the year, and also outlines the plans for the future.

The report is a valuable document for anyone interested in the development of Alberta. It provides a clear and concise summary of the province's resources and the progress of development in various fields. It also outlines the plans for the future, and provides a clear picture of the government's policy in this regard.

LARGE CROWD OBSERVED AT TUXIS SESSION

Boys' Parliament Passes Bill For Increased Camp Promotion

With interest at a high pitch following the dramatic developments of the opening sessions of the 26th Annual Alberta Tuxis parliament, packed galleries witnessed proceedings at the legislative buildings Friday evening. Members settled down to work in earnest and ran through a heavy order sheet.

Final reading was given to a bill calling for increased promotion of Camp Tuxis, while second reading was given to a bill instructing all members to organize their constituents to a better degree. Second reading also was given to an organization bill and a bill on inter-provincial relations. Seven other bills received first reading.

MESSAGES FOR THE NEW YEAR ISSUED TODAY

Continued from Page Fifteen came among us. The influence of the greatest presence has led a spell upon us we shall not desire to lose.

As a people we have cause for deep sense of gratitude for a bountiful harvest and for greatly improved circumstances which are quite widely spread in the province. In material property possibilities are most promising and a spirit of optimism prevails. The past year has witnessed remarkable progress in the exploration and development of our natural resources, especially in the oil production.

We enter the new year not without our share of anxiety and the threat of war has hung over Europe for the past years has now become a grave reality. It is together with the other members of the British Empire, at war, first ministers without portfolio and delegates to the League of Nations, that we have been called upon to stand by our country in this hour of crisis.

The first and most important duty we owe to our country is to keep up a constant vigilance to see that we do not lose the spirit of the issue that now confronts us in this conflict. We are striving to establish justice and freedom for oppressed peoples, and to set up the ideal of personal liberty and individualism. The final arbiter of all international disputes. Unless the Divine message of peace is accepted, the world will be a place of strife and conflict.

"Goodwill" is the ultimate of this struggle there is little to suggest by way of progress for modern civilization. My particular message for this New Year is for each of us to carry on in his own sphere in a confident and courageous manner. We are crusaders in the cause of liberty; we are striving to obtain personal freedom and the establishment of free institutions. We are on the side of right and justice and we cannot fail.

Hon. E. C. Manning, acting premier in the absence of Premier Barker, said that the message here was collecting all it could in the way of clothing wool and money to be sent to Finland. The Canadian Red Cross also has been asked to collect money for the relief of the Turkish earthquake victims. The money will be given to the Red Crescent Society, the Turkish equivalent of the Red Cross.

Naturally, in a world torn by war and human suffering, there is a temptation to forego the duties of the future with characteristic courage and fortitude, firmly of the belief that right must prevail and that a permanent peace will be won by the British Empire.

The War This Week

By DON GILBERT
CHRISTMAS hush made the seventeenth week of the war with Germany the quietest since hostilities began. But in Finland, the land associated with reindeer and sleighs and other incidents of Christmas, the fighting went on with increasing fury.

The Bolsheviks do not observe Christmas, and had little to be thankful for anyway. The successful Finns, routing the invaders in some sections and staying their gains in others, penetrated from as far away as Siberia by all troops against the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad, which serves as a supply line for the Red forces.

The measure of success attending this 75-mile dash across the snow-covered lakes and forests of the enemy was not clear. But an indication of the general progress of the invasion was given in reliable reports that the Russian high command had been changed and new troops from as far away as Siberia summoned to participate in the campaign.

FOURBACK REPLACEMENTS
Cossacks, successors of the gallant horsemen of the old Imperial army, were said to be on their way from South Russia to replace the tanks, so many of which the Finns say have been captured, or have broken through ice or become bogged in snow drifts.

In the west the principal event was the damaging of a British battleship by an enemy torpedo. Four men were missing, believed killed. The name of the ship was withheld by the admiralty and it was indicated the damage was not extensive. However, German raiders had little success. British sea losses totaling less than 3,000 tons for the week.

The King, in a Christmas Day broadcast, spoke of the unity of the peoples of the Empire and said "we feel in our hearts that we are fighting against wickedness." Thousands of soldiers, sailors and airmen received home leave for the holidays.

INDIANS AT FRONT
The British Expeditionary Force was joined by a contingent of tank-borne troops from India, who arrived in France eager for action. An initial group of Australian armoured troops arrived in England. The Canadian Air Service Force, in camp at Aldershot, prepared for a period of intensive training to begin once the New Year holidays are over.

Christmas 1914, was the occasion of an unofficious truce as troops on both sides laying down their arms temporarily for the celebrations. Later in the week of Dec. 24-26 the Allied forces advanced along the Belgian coast. In South Africa the uprising of the pro-German elements was ended.

Viscountess Dies
LONDON, Dec. 30.—Elizabeth Viscountess Bryce, widow of the British statesman and historian, died Wednesday at the age of 83 at her home, Hindleford, Forest Row, Sussex. Lord Bryce was ambassador to the United States from 1907 to 1913.

British Envoys To Russia On Leave
MOSCOW, Dec. 30.—Sir William Seeds, British ambassador to Soviet Russia, will leave for London next Tuesday for a visit described by the embassy as an often-postponed one.

$10,000 SENT FINN REFUGEES BY RED CROSS

TORONTO, Dec. 30.—In response to an appeal for aid for thousands of destitute children evacuated from cities in Finland, the Canadian Red Cross yesterday cabled $10,000 to be used for Finnish relief.

Mrs. H. P. Plumtree, vice-chairman of war activities, said that the money here was collecting all it could in the way of clothing wool and money to be sent to Finland. The Canadian Red Cross also has been asked to collect money for the relief of the Turkish earthquake victims.
